In 2021, to quote Sunshine Coast Daily, "James is a compassionate, skilled practitioner and relaxing divergent who is passionate about the power of Therapy". James found the time and space in his life to pursue his long-time interest in helping people learn through the magic and beauty of Therapy. Feeling discouraged after various prognoses from doctors and finding that Western medicine alone was unsuccessful in treating his ongoing health concerns, James was prompted to turn towards his selfless nature and fully engage in giving to the community. As a Qualified Therapist specialised in offering adaptive and innovative ways to engage the individual, online or in-person, James sessions are accessible to all young and old who are willing to open their mind to the new medium of creativity and transformation

Individuals require a 15 minute, one on one consultation before attending a 'general' session. This is in the best interest of allowing that individual to feel prepared and if an online session what to have handy.
